

Author Bio

Jennifer Miller, MAR, MA, LPC is both a Christian pastor and professional counselor, combining her expertise in both psychology and theology to help countless individuals, couples, and families in private practice, church-based ministry, services provided through her nonprofit, as well as through her writing, speaking, and teaching.

She is the co-founder and Co-Executive Director of The Center for Living Well, a nonprofit Christ-centered wellness ministry that offers programs that help people find health and healing in mind, body, heart, and spirit. She regularly leads classes, workshops, and retreats through the Center on a wide range of topics including faith, marriage, and parenting. She is also a Master-level Christ-Centered Yoga Leader at the Center.

Her other published work consists of her Home Life Revolution curriculum that combines faith, marriage, and parenting to bring true transformation to anyone's home life. No Longer Two is an expanded version of the marriage portion of that curriculum. You can find more by Jennifer through both www.nolonger2.com and www.centerforlivingwell.org.

On a more personal note, Jennifer is very happily married to her high school sweetheart, Brandon. Together they live in Chandler, Arizona with their two boys, Nathaniel and Samuel. She also has a grown stepson, Ky, and two godchildren, Hannah and Aidan. She has a passion for all things I Love Lucy, for a good cup of tea, for classic movies, for great books, for family and friends, and most of all, for Jesus.